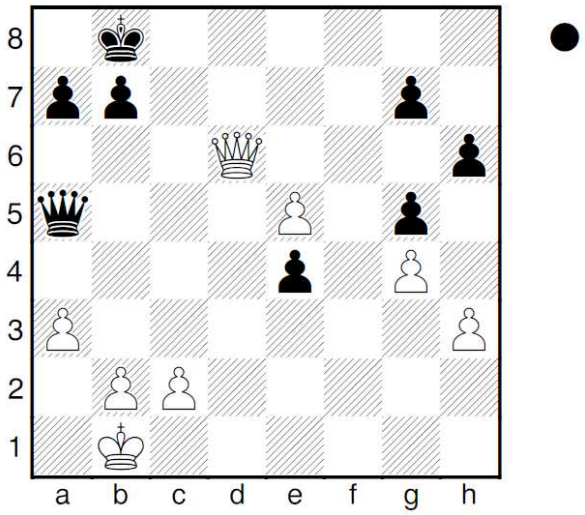
What is Check?

When a King is attacked, it is called as check (written as "+" in chess notation). Since a king can never be captured, the term "check" is used when a king is threatened.

If a player is in check, they must get out of check! In the position below, White has just moved their Queen to the d6-square which attacks the Black king. This means that Black is in check.



How to Defend against Check?

There are three ways to defend against check.

1. Move out of check
2. Block the check
3. Capture the piece which gives check

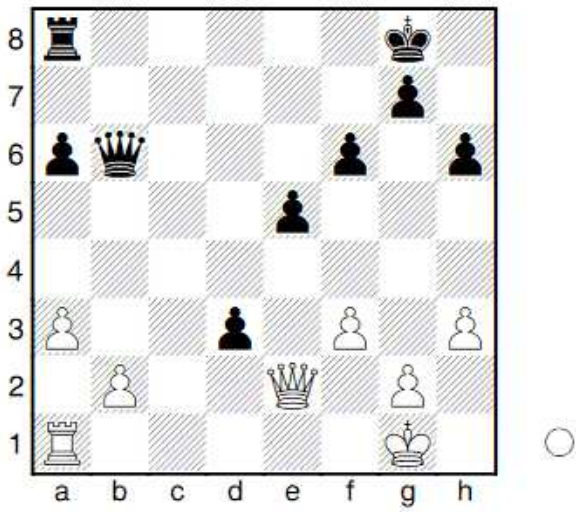
1. Move out of Check

In the position given below, Black has just played g3+. We must move the King from f2 to g1.

2. Block the Check

In the position given below, Black played the pawn from d4 to d3 and it's a discover check for the White King from Black's Queen on b6. Also, Black going to capture White's Queen on next move. So here best way for White to defend the is Qf2 which blocks the Check also protects White's Queen.

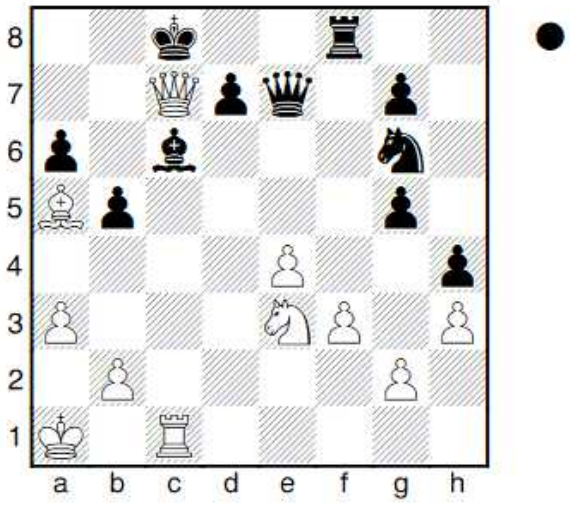


3. Capture the piece which gives Check

In the position given below, Black played d5+ which gives check to White King. White can simply capture the pawn to remove the check Kxd5.

Checkmate

The goal of every chess game is to checkmate the opponent's king which means victory to you. Checkmate is when the opponent's king is not able to escape from the Check. For example, in the position given below White played Qc7# using Bishop support. And it's a Checkmate. Because Black has no ways to escape from the Check.



I hope following 1000 Checkmate exercises will improve your ideas for Checkmate. All the Best!!!
